An Odd Nugget of Gold.
There have been many large and oddly shaped gold nuggets found in the United States and elsewhere, but the oddest of them all was that discovered at the Midhas mine, on Sulky gully, near Melbourne, Australia, in 1887. The nugget was flat and almost the exact counterpart in contour of the colossal human hand held open, with the exception of the thumb and forefinger, which were joined together in a manner so as to make it appear that the thumb was holding the finger in place. Its greatest length was 12 1/2 inches and its greatest breadth 8 inches.

It was of the very purest gold, with but a little of foreign substances adhering, mostly between the "fingers," and weighed 617 ounces. It was found in the northwest main drive of the Midhas mine, 120 feet below the surface of the earth and at a spot only fifty feet from where the famous Lady Brassy nugget was discovered the year before. It weighed fifty-one pounds of pure gold.

Preliminary to the Baptism.

When Bishop Goe of Melbourne was a curate, a famous pugilist in the parish, who went by the name of Jim the Slogger and who had never darkened a church door, called at the parsonage asking him to baptize the baby. Accordingly the bishop repaired to Jim's house, but was surprised on being admitted to see Jim lock the door and pocket the key. "Be you the parson come to sprinkle that kid?" he asked. On the bishop assenting he continued, "You can't sprinkle that kid till you and me has had a fight, parson."

The unfortunate parson protested, but finding protest useless "stood up" to Jim. The battle went for the bishop, and Jim, pulling himself from the floor, muttered, "He's the parson for me." The baptism was proceeded with, and, as the story goes, Jim took to church going from that day.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Adequate Provocation.

An old Scotswoman had imbibed so much of the doctrine that music in church was sinful that when she came to this country she refused to subscribe to the general sentiment in favor of choir singing, etc. She scowled one day in her own church when the congregation took up an anthem that was scored rather elaborately and complained to her pew neighbor of the foothold the devil was getting even in the service of God, says the Philadelphia Times.

"But," protested her neighbor, "that anthem is very old and very sacred. Why, David sang it before Saul!" "Weel, weel," commented the old woman, "I nee for the first time understand why Saul threw a javelin at David when the lad sang for him!"

Settled the Wing Question.

Two little Philadelphia girls the other day strayed into the realms of the eology and anthropology, though of course they didn't know it.

"Say," said the first, "we's Dod's 'tite angels, isn't we?" "Yeth," lisped the second, "but we hasn't dot any feathers on uth, like the 'tite angels my mamma showed me in a picture book."

"Well, we had once, don't oo know," returned the first, "but Dod pulled 'em all out before him sent us down here." "What for did he do that?" "So that we couldn't fly up in the trees when our mamas want us to come in and be washed!"

The Cannibal.

"And what," asked the cannibal chieftain in his kindest tones—"what was your business before you were captured by my men?"

"I was a newspaper man," answered the captive.

"An editor?"

"No; merely a subeditor."

"Cheer up, young man! Shortly after my chief has finished his perusal of the cookbook you will be editor in chief."

Laughing heartily at his bonnet, the cannibal chieftain wanted to know if the captive had a funny bone.—Judge.

Napoleon and His Mother.

Soon after Napoleon's assumption of the imperial purple he chanced to meet his mother in the gardens of St. Cloud. He was surrounded by courtiers and half playfully held out his hand for her to kiss. "Not so, my son," she gravely replied, at the same time presenting her hand in return; "it is your duty to kiss the hand of her who gave you life."—Chambers' Journal.

Theories.

"I suppose you have thoroughly investigated the conditions of which you are treating in your book," remarked the friend.

"No," replied the literary woman who had undertaken a great work. "You see, I'm afraid an investigation might interfere with some of the beautiful theories I have evolved."—Chicago Post.

What Money Can Do.

Struckoyle (showing his art collection)—Ain't that bullfight picture a beauty? I paid an artist $2,000 to paint that for me to order.

Cutting—Well, well! It's surprising what some men will do for money, isn't it?—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Considerate.

Sandy—Yer say dat lady was considerate dat threw de bollin' water on yer?

Cinders—Cert! In dese days of germs and microbes she was considerate to boll it before she threw it.—Philadelphia Record.

The first fourteen Roman emperors all shayed their faces clean. There is a portrait bust representing Nero with a beard, but it is not believed to be authentic.

Farm For Sale.

Having decided to invest in land in the West, I will sell my farm, known as the Quincey Burgess farm, one mile from Hutchison Station, containing 129 acres, all in fine state of cultivation, not one acre but good for hemp and tobacco. There is a nine-room brick house, and all necessary out-buildings, including a good barn, well watered. This farm will be sold privately. There are 80 acres in wheat, the rest in Blue Grass. The title to the farm is clear no incumbrance of any kind.

Any one wishing a good farm will do well to call on or address,
